Dr. Brandon Owen

grew up in Montana where he met his wife, Nicole, at Montana State University. He graduated dental school from the University of Minnesota and continued there to complete his orthodontic residency and to obtain his Masters of Science.

Dr. Owen opened his practice in Fort Collins in 2006 and moved to our current Platinum LEED building in 2010. He and Nicole have a daughter, Presley, and younger son, Hudson, but in 2011 they suffered the loss of their oldest son, Keller, to illness. Dr. Owen enjoys spending time with his family, skiing, and fly fishing in his spare time.

Dr. Adam Timock

was born and raised in the suburbs of Kansas City where he met his wife (in sixth grade!). After finishing his undergraduate degree at Lake Forest College in Chicago, he returned to complete his dental degree at the University of Missouri-Kansas City. At Oregon Health & Science University in Portland, Oregon, Dr. Timock was awarded his Specialty Certificate in Orthodontics as well as a Masters of Science for his research on three-dimensional imaging.

At home, Dr. Timock and his wife, Krystl, have been blessed with two energetic young children, Addyson and Cannon, and an equally playful yellow lab, Mowgli. They put down their roots in Fort Collins in 2010, and have been enjoying all the activities and attractions of Northern Colorado ever since.

Determining when to begin orthodontic treatment should be a mutual decision with the best interests of the patient as the focus—not a business decision!

At Owen & Timock Orthodontics, we believe in a conservative approach to treatment and will typically offer patients multiple options to allow the best possible solution for each individual's specific wants and needs.
